Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me nearly bald for six years during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had, was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my hair is now well covered with a new growth of hair. - Judson R. Chapel, Eastabrook, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal. - Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do my good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of his preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and I am also free from dandruff. - Mrs. E. E. Ross, Milwaukee, Wis.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

PERFECT SAFETY, prompt action, and wonderful cures, properties, easily place Ayer's Pills at the head of the list of popular remedies for Sick and Nervous Headaches, Constipation, and all ailments originating in a disordered Liver.

I have been a great sufferer from Headache and Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the only medicine that has ever done me relief. One dose of these Pills will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. - William L. Page, Richmond, Va.

LIFE AND WEALTH.

A Well-to-Do Miner Loses Both in an Effort to Find a Silver Deposit.

Antelope Charley, a noted Indian hunter and trapper, brought into the Shoshone Agency, in the northern portion of this Territory, not long ago, a human skull and a handful of silver specimens almost pure in their character. The ghastly relic and the bright silver the Indian had found in a deep mountain gorge of the Owl Creek Mountains, in the vicinity of those noted local landmarks, the Washaku Needles. The skull was lying with its kindred portions of a human skeleton, and the silver ore was contained in a moldering and rotten buckskin sack, yet held in the grasp of a bony hand. The Indian lifted the sack from the hold of the skeleton's fingers and it fell apart, the glittering ore rolling upon the ground amid the dry and bleaching bones. Antelope Charley gathered up the ore specimens, and taking the skull to verify his story, brought both skill and ore into the agency. The Indian's tale aroused the recollections of several old-timers at the agency, and furnished the key to a half-forgotten mystery of the mountain frontier. In the spring of 1878 there appeared in the camp of a party of prospectors located in the shadow of the Washaku Needles a man well equipped for prospecting. He was a stranger and a German, and soon became known to the camp he joined as Dutch Joe. Like most of his race he was industrious and steady, and it was not long before Dutch Joe became the most indefatigable prospector of the party.

No distance was too long for him to traverse, no mountain journey too long-some for him to undertake, scaling precipices and descending into canyons he searched the mountains far and wide for the glittering ore on whose possession he had centered the hopes of his life.

At last, late in the summer, he returned to camp one evening from one of his wild and rugged trips, wearing an elated look, and it soon became known around that Dutch Joe had struck it rich. Beyond a certain repressed triumph in his manner he was in no way different. He was watched closely, however, and a prospector, dogging his steps from camp the day after his return, saw him take from his bosom a buckskin sack and put it on a fair spot of silver specimens, whose brilliancy and evident purity took the prospector's breath away.

The bold these specimens came from must have been of fabulous richness. Dutch Joe was now watched closer than ever, with the intention of tracking him to the mountain treasure. But the successful prospector was wary and suspicious, and one day the spying camp found that he had eluded its interested vigilance and was gone. In vain he was searched for. Not even a trace of his departure could be found, and when a few days afterwards a furious mountain snowstorm set in the disappointed prospectors were forced to abandon the hunt and bid farewell to the hope of enriching themselves at Dutch Joe's expense. But Dutch Joe was never seen or heard of afterward. He and his mountain treasure had alike vanished. The next spring came around and brought neither Dutch Joe nor any tidings of him. The belief became general that he had perished in the mountain storm immediately following his disappearance, but the story of the lost prospector was long told around frontier camp-fires, with many speculations on the value of the silver treasure, of which he alone knew the location.

And now, thirteen years after his disappearance, the discovery of the Shoshone hunter comes to confirm the fate of the lost prospector. He had fully perished in that winter storm, and had kept with him to the last in the grip of his own fingers the buckskin sack, with its precious contents. A party of hunters from the agency under the guidance of Antelope Charley, and gave the bones of the lost discoverer of the treasure Christian burial. A strong effort will be made to find the rich silver deposit for the sake of whose riches Dutch Joe perished amid the snows of the Owl Mountains. - Launce (By T.) Downing.

A Good Story from France. There is a good story told in the French War Office to the effect that for years a soldier was stationed in the passage-way leading to the minister's private apartments, with orders not to let people touch the walls. But no one seemed to understand why this was done. Now a new Minister of an impetuous turn of mind, who determined to find out the explanation of a circumstance that his fifty predecessors had never remarked. But no one could give him any light, not even the chief clerk, not the subordinates who had been in office half a century. But a certain door-keeper, an old fellow with a good memory, recollected that on a certain occasion a soldier was placed there because the walls had been painted, and the Minister's wife had given a spot on her dress. The paint had dried, but the sentinel had been hit. - Luth.

REASONS.

There are forty reasons why men dress well, some of them decidedly curious should they be probed.

Expediency of odd sorts serves to accomplish certain ends and the like.

Most men, we trust, rise to the higher plane of neatness and good taste. A well-bred man pleases himself and enjoys a satisfaction in knowing he attracts no attention by too little dress or too much. In our very full supply of you will find the happy medium that every gentleman of good taste and every mother of refinement, who wishes to see her boys well dressed, enjoys.

NEW + BUSINESS + SUITS, Dress Suits, Overcoats, BOYS' and CHILDREN'S SUITS,

In answer to the question so often asked,

Where Can I Do the Best?

we would say, and prove it if necessary, that every dollar's worth of goods that is delivered to us, after being examined and found correct, is paid for SPOT CASH. This and a twenty years' experience in our business, knowing how to buy and where to buy, offsets any argument that has been and may be made by any of our competitors as to their offering extraordinary bargains, without any good reason on their part as to their superior ability, financially or otherwise, to procure them.

AN Illinois farmer, whose horses had the glanders and were killed recently, died a few days ago from blood poisoning, which was undoubtedly caused by contact with the diseased animals which he cared for. The glanders is so dangerous and hopeless a disease that when a horse is attacked by it he should be put out of the way at once. It is one of the few animal diseases liable to be communicated to human beings, and wherever it prevails it should be stamped out as quickly as possible.

STATUS of the Normal.
The state board of education and the committee on education from the House and Senate held a conference in the office of the superintendent of public instruction Tuesday afternoon at Springfield. A general discussion took place relative to the effect of the recent decision of the Supreme Court concerning the State Normal School on the board and the appropriation proposed. The position was taken by the members of the board that their status was not affected, that the board was the same as in 1877, that they held property in trust, and could not comply with the order of the Legislature without violating their sense of duty. It was also held that the institution was entitled to appropriations from the state.

Good Templar Sociable.
The Good Templars of Decatur Lodge will give a sociable to-night in their hall, in court house block. A fine literary and musical programme has been prepared, and everybody is assured of a pleasant evening. Everybody invited.

Masonic.
Special convocation of Besanconier Commandery No. 4, K. T., this (Thursday) evening at 7 o'clock, for work. A full at-

Adjudged Insane.
In the county court this forenoon before Judge Nelson and a jury Mrs. Mary A. Boyce, wife of Thomas Boyce, was adjudged insane. The jury were Dr. Bur-nstead, D. L. Hughes, J. H. Millikin, John Brockway, Benj. Barnell and Geo.
Dunaway. The people were represented by Thomas Lee and the defendant by Cyrus Randolph. Mrs. Boyce is the mother of several children, a child of 10 years testifying that she did all the cooking in person and cared for her infant brother, the mother neglecting to perform her duties. The mother had threatened to harm her helpful daughter. The age of Mrs. Boyce is 32 and her malady is ascribed to child bearing. She will be sent to Jacksonville for treatment.

MISS DAIRY DAVIS, daughter of Mrs. L.
Davis and niece of John Grass, was given a complete surprise last night by a jolly party of her young friends who called at her home, No. 808 East John street, in a body. The callers were Mollie Conley, Charlie Conley, Willie Hopping, Winnie Acker, Harry Acker, Alva Butler, Eddie Davison, Rose Shandley, Rose Etheridge, Early Blank, Willie Fisher, Mary O'Connor and Ida Hornestein. The evening was given up to various games and refreshments were served.

Six small children of Mrs. Martha Rice, who is in the county jail on a charge of adultery, are in need of immediate help. They are without protection, proper food and nurture, and since the mother was jailed they have been stopping at the cheerless home, on West street, near Eldorado. Overseer Logan and the relief committee should look after the children.

Natural Gas at Litchfield.
Speaking of the natural gas at Litchfield a correspondent writes: "Notwithstanding Litchfield was abundantly supplied with an almost unlimited quantity of fuel, a new material has been found in the past few years both for fuel and light, it being gas and oil. Lubricating oil, equal to the best product of the wells of West Virginia, was found in 1878, and natural gas was discovered in 1882. Now five miles of gas mains are buried beneath the surface of the streets, and over 400 stores are operated by gas in place of coal and wood. Litchfield is the only city west of Ohio that has successfully put into use the product of a gas well.
The wells are southeast of the city and within a radius of two miles. They are operated by the Litchfield Gas, Oil and Fuel Company. The gas is brought into the city under a high pressure to a gasometer by a three-inch line and is distributed under a low pressure by eight, six, four and three inch mains. The gas as a fuel surpasses any other material yet known, is absolutely clean and creates a very regular heat."

A Peep at Montevideo.
Sol. Moritz is just in receipt of a letter from his nephew, Albert Moritz, cadet engineer in the U. S. Naval service, now on board the sloop of war "Junonia." The letter is dated Montevideo, Uruguay, December 1, 1896. Albert writes: "Montevideo is a much nicer place than Rio.
The streets are cleaner and clearer, the shops make finer displays, the people are far better looking and more intelligent. The women especially dress well and are very fine looking. It is rare to see a bad looking girl. Everybody speaks Spanish, although there is an extensive Italian settlement. I have been ashore twice and have seen the town. I went to a Spanish theatre and listened to the Masca in Spanish.
It was very good, although the setting was not half as good as when produced at home. There are four galleries and orchestra seats. The pianist gallery, 50 cents, was jammed; next gallery, reserved exclusively for ladies, was also jammed, except taking the ladies to the theatre and calling for the when called. The next two galleries are boxes, where full dress and the best diamond ornaments find place. An orchestra seat for $2.00 was good enough for me. After the Muscoe (beginning at 8:30 a little musical farce before it was over. The performance lasted 11:30 a. m. to-morrow I take my bag boy baggage to carry photo instruments will take some views. Next Sunday go to a professional harbor. Some time during each day a terrible snow comes on; sometimes the blizzards cut jampers last several days, when it is impossible to either leave or return to the ship. If an officer is anxious to leave he is obliged to wait until the snow is over. Yesterday we had such an affair, during which we lost two of our boys; one man overboard, compelling us to throw life preservers and lower life boats and boat. The men that rescued the two saw that they could not approach the ship again on account of the high sea. Our guns (secret for port) got ashore and gave us a little trouble, our steam launch was sent ashore to prevent getting swamped, but she had a terrible time in getting ashore in such a sea. All is quiet to-day."

Hoodman Blind.
Manager Haiden telegraphed the managers of the opera house at Aurora yes-

TALKING TO THE JURY.

Argument in the $5,000 Damage
Case in Progress—Fines Assessed.

The last witness for the defense in the $5,000 damage case against Drs. Luce and Catto was on the stand this forenoon in the circuit court, and at the conclusion of his evidence both sides rested.
Judge Smith gave each side two hours to consume in arguments and the attorneys are now addressing the jury. Attorney Hutchinson opened for the prosecution.
He was followed by Attorneys Criss and Ewing for the defense, and this afternoon Attorney Buckingham will close the case.
The jury will retire at about four o'clock, and a verdict may be reached to-night.

John M. Runney vs. John Caffray et al; foreclosure; suit dismissed by plaintiff.

Stapp's Chapel Revival.

Rev. Geo. W. Wilson, evangelist, spoke last night to a crowded house from the words: "Therefore I say unto you that whosoever things ye desire when ye pray believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." The trend of the argument was to show that there are many of God's precious promises that we fail to receive simply because we fail to believe that God will give us what he has promised to give us when we ask him; that faith was not a matter of feeling. Many a man says: "I would believe if I could feel I was saved." Here was the stumbling.
He should meet with God's prescribed conditions of salvation and comply with God's terms and the salvation will come, and if you get salvation in your soul you will have feeling enough. It is man's failure to apprehend this and his waiting for emotion and feeling, before he complies with God's conditions, that debars many from salvation. The fifteen minutes allowed for prayer service was well filled with testimonies from Christian people as to the power of Christ to save and to keep. The jubilee service has been postponed until the arrival of the holiday.

BOBBY PRINCE has returned with his stolen mare, sold at Bethany by the thief for four dollars. The saddle and bridle that the robber took away with him from Bethany on the train south belonged to Andrew Dennis from whom they were stolen.

In a Central Location.

Yesterday the enterprising marble dealers and contractors, Messrs. Cross & DeFrantz, secured a central location in the business part of the city by purchasing of Michael Elson a lot 40x43 feet on South State street at the rear of the H.
W. Wagoner building and nearly opposite the entrance to the circuit clerk's office. The firm will put up a handsome two-story brick shop on the lot as soon as the weather will permit, and early in the spring their stock of marble and stone will be removed to the lot where they will carry on their business. It is gratifying to note this marked evidence of prosperity on the part of Cross & DeFrantz, both of whom are industrious craftsmen, skilled in every branch of their occupation. The new site for their marble shop is an excellent one and easy of access, just half a block south of East Main on State.

A large order of dances has been arranged for the Charity Ball at the Armory to-morrow night. Good music.
Parties who have not secured tickets can get them at the door.

The 14th marriage anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGinty was celebrated last night in a festive manner at their home on East North street. They had almost forgotten the anniversary, but they were forcibly reminded of the event when a large party of surprised assembled the home and took possession. There was music, dancing and feasting and a gay time generally. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. James Vande, Mr. and Mrs.
John McEvoy, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Skelly, Mr. and Mrs.
J. S. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Brown, Mrs. Nolan, the Misses Houston, McGon-negan, Finn, Kern, and Messrs. Thomas Melvick, Patrick Delaney, Patrick Finn, Mr. O'Hearn and others.

Less than half a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cured me of a severe bronchial affection. H. S. HOSKIN, 46 Han-Don't! If a dealer offers you a bottle of Salvation Oil without labels or wrappers, or in a mutilated or defaced package, don't touch it! Don't buy it at any price. Insist upon getting a perfect bottle, unopened, genuine, package. Price 25 cents a bottle.

MR. and MRS. J. A. BARNES gave a entertained a company of friends in a delightful manner. Refreshments were served.

SERIOUSLY HURT.

This forenoon shortly before 10 o'clock, Frank Zetterling, a blacksmith, who has been in the employ of H. Muller & Son's at their gas fitting and plumbing establishment, met with a very serious accident at the works—an accident that may either result fatally or render him a crumple for life. He was standing on a stepladder oiling the elevator shafting, when the ladder slipped an inch or so. Zetterling lost his balance and fell a distance of six or eight feet, falling upon a heavy piece of machinery, striking it on the small of his back. It is feared that his spine is permanently injured, and that he will never have the use of his legs. Mr.
Mueller and the shopmen hastened to the aid of Zetterling, who lay groaning upon the floor. Subsequently he was placed on a cot in an express wagon and slowly driven to his home, on South Water street, where he has a wife and three small children. He was given immediate surgical attention by Drs. Ira N. Barnes and R. L. Walston. Zetterling is 29 years of age, and has been quite unfortunate. Last summer he was ill several months and only a short time ago one of his little daughters had her scalp laid open by a fall. She is now in bed at home. Zetterling is the owner of the property he occupies.

After a careful examination, the surgeons report that unless paralysis sets in, Zetterman may pull through all right.
They regard the case as a very serious one.
